

BANKING AND FINANCE

Our attorneys understand the financial industry, and our depth of experience gives clients access to efficient and practical advice. Conner & Winters represents lenders and borrowers in syndicated and single-bank financings across a diverse range of industries, with particular emphasis in wind energy, gaming and health care. The firm also counsels financial institutions in the increasingly complex regulatory environment, including consumer lending, bank regulatory compliance and bank holding company issues.

We have a proven ability to handle complex transactions, as well as routine transactions where controlling costs is key. Our collaborative approach allows us to quickly understand the unique elements in any financing transaction and work efficiently to achieve the client's goals. When necessary during negotiations, we create practical solutions to resolve conflicting positions and close a deal.

Our team works closely with the firm's other practice areas to provide well-rounded advice for issues that affect the financial industry, including Tax, Health Care, American Indian / Native American, Bankruptcy and Business Reorganization and other practice groups. This approach allows us to stay abreast of relevant developments in all areas of law and better develop strategies targeted to meet clients' needs.
