

INSURANCE DEFENSE / PERSONAL INJURY

In addition to insurance coverage litigation, the firm also works with select insurance carriers and self-insureds to defend insureds in a wide variety of insurance claims, including investigation and litigation of personal injury, wrongful death, product liability, property damage, and environmental claims. We deal with claims arising in, for example, industrial, health care, commercial, banking and finance, labor and employment, residential, and automobile-related settings. We represent insureds of insurance carriers under policies covering auto liability, commercial general liability, professional liability, non-profit organizations, trucking liability and many other specialty coverages. We also have extensive experience in both defending bad faith claims against insurance carriers and representing primarily corporate policy holders against insurance carriers on bad faith claims.
