

CONNER & WINTERS WELCOMES CAROLINE GUERRA WOLF

10.01.2019

Conner & Winters is proud to announce that Caroline Guerra Wolf has joined the firm's Tulsa office as an associate.

Caroline Guerra Wolf has experience in a broad range of practice areas, having assisted with both civil and criminal matters as a judicial clerk for Chief Judge John E. Dowdell of the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Oklahoma. She has a particular interest in American Indian/Native American law and environmental law.

Ms. Guerra Wolf graduated at the top of her class at the University of Tulsa College of Law, earning CALI awards for the highest grades in eleven separate courses. She served as an articles research editor for the Tulsa Law Review, and her own article concerning rural water districts was chosen for publication.

Ms. Guerra Wolf attended the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, where she received her Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and International Studies and a minor in Hispanic Studies.
