11.10.2019

Conner & Winters attorneys Jared D. Giddens and J.P. Mahoney made a presentation last week to a long-time client's commercial lenders and credit officers. The program focused on best practices for customer communications as a financial institution identifies and addresses preworkout, restructuring and default scenarios.

Jared D. Giddens, a partner in the firm's Oklahoma City office, has over thirty-eight years' experience representing lending institutions and counterparties throughout the lifespan of the commercial lending relationship, including workouts, litigation and bankruptcy. Mr. Giddens has been a presenter to clients, industry groups and the bar on various debtor creditor topics. J.P. Mahoney is also an attorney in our Oklahoma City office. Like Mr. Giddens, Mr. Mahoney has a background in business and understands corporate financial products and how they intersect with clients' businesses.
