Mr. Newa focuses his practice primarily on representing insurance companies in a wide variety of insurance coverage disputes, including complex, high-exposure coverage litigation relating to environmental, asbestos, toxic tort, manufacturing defects and construction defect claims. Many of these claims involve coverage issues arising from class action lawsuits against policyholders, including claims presented in federal Multi-District Litigation (MDL).

Mr. Newa has served in a national counsel role for insurers in Chinese drywall claims, and window defect class action claims involving window manufacturers Pella, WeatherShield, MI Windows and Doors, and Lincoln Wood. These claims typically involve multiple coverage issues, including trigger of coverage, allocation, application of "business risk" exclusions, coverage for "rip and tear," impaired property exclusions, and sistership exclusions, among other issues.

Mr. Newa also dedicates a significant part of his practice to counseling insurers and litigating claims regarding alleged bad faith, alleged breaches of covenants of good faith and fair dealing, and unfair claims settlement practices in states throughout the Midwest.
