In the ever-changing technological landscape, businesses can no longer rely on the old adage "if it ain't broke, don't fix it". Each of our panelists have a long, storied history operating at senior levels in the media, entertainment and technology industries and embracing innovation. We will focus on each individual's experiences keeping pace with the latest tech, their need to be highly nimble, iterate and pivot with changes. Our panelists will share notable learnings/take-aways from innovation successes and failures and how those experiences influence their current strategies and overall tolerance for risk.
