

The Business of AI Conference

Bringing It Together. What the Future with AI Holds

03.21.2024 | 3:45-4:45 PM

Event Sponsor: International Trademark Association

During this session, we will conclude our conference with a look at what the future may hold. How will AI be integrated into future human activities? What will the provision of health care look like as AI is integrated more and more into the delivery of health services? Will it impact your next surgery? Will it allow more individuals to receive more preventative healthcare services? How will it impact how our children are taught? What kind of assistance will we get in our businesses and firms from “junior” personnel—and will the personnel be human? During this session we will not only look to the future, but also recap what we’ve learned during the last two days and provide an actionable checklist of what participants can do to prepare.
