Join leading voices from Sheppard Mullin, Mount Sinai, Thrive Capital, Aidoc, and New York Law School for a fast, candid conversation on how AI is actually being used in health systems today—from triage to compliance to clinical decision-making. We'll unpack what's working, what's not, and what it takes to scale AI in a highly regulated, deeply human industry. No buzzwords. Just honest insights from people doing the work.

Attendees Will Learn:

- What makes AI tools clinically meaningful (not just shiny objects)
- What AI is actually doing now in care settings—triage, diagnostics, burnout prevention

Who Should Attend:

- Health system leaders
- Clinicians
- Policy advisors
- In-house counsel
- Investors

Presented by:

Adam Herbst, Partner and former Deputy Commissioner at the NYS of Health, Sheppard Mullin

David Reich, MD, Chief Clinical Officer, Mount Sinai Health System

Michael Pastor, Dean for Technology Law Programs, New York Law School

Steven E. Pegalis, Adjunct Professor of Law, New York Law School
