In-Person at Sheppard Mullin's Washington DC Office or Via Webcast
11.05.2025 | 12:00-2:00 PM EDT

The U.S. Department of Justice has placed cybersecurity at the forefront of its enforcement priorities, introducing new initiatives that significantly impact companies and in-house counsel. In this session, our speakers will provide an insider's view of DOJ's recently announced Data Security Program, the Civil Cyber-Fraud Initiative, and related efforts aimed at strengthening information security compliance.

Through real-world case studies—including the Georgia Tech enforcement action and others—they will illustrate how DOJ is approaching enforcement, what lessons can be drawn, and how in-house counsel can proactively mitigate risk. Attendees will come away with a clear understanding of DOJ's evolving expectations, emerging areas of exposure, and practical strategies to prepare their organizations for heightened scrutiny in the cybersecurity arena.

Presented by Townsend Bourne, Partner and ADG Co-Chair, Nikole Snyder, Senior Associate, Sheppard Mullin, along with Sherry Truong, Lead Privacy Counsel, Asana and Daniel Enos, In House Counsel.
