Sheppard Mullin’s Los Angeles and Century City offices were again named among Los Angeles’ “Most Admired Law Firms” by the Los Angeles Business Journal (LABJ). This is the firm’s fifth appearance on this list, which is “dedicated to distinguishing the most admired and best law firms to work for in the LA area,” according to the publication.

The LABJ highlighted the firm’s new downtown Los Angeles office space, which incorporates unique and state-of-the-art design features—like downtown LA’s only outdoor “loggia” with panoramic city views—to support wellness, connection and creativity. Other amenities include a coffee bar with a full-time barista, open workspaces and a private gym only for Sheppard Mullin employees. The new office is also LEED Platinum Certified, with energy-efficient lighting and other sustainable features. Optimized for hybrid work, the office is divided into shared areas, meeting hubs and tech-enabled workstations.

The LABJ also noted the firm’s top-notch benefits like Bright Horizons backup childcare; Milk Stork, a breast milk delivery service for traveling, breastfeeding mothers; Lyra Health, a workforce mental health benefit provider offering eight free therapy sessions per year to each employee as well as each member of their household; and HomeThrive, which provides support for caregivers and their dependents.
