Real estate partner and leader of Sheppard Mullin's Cannabis Industry Team Whitney Hodges was recognized as one of the Top 50 Women Leaders of San Diego for 2022 by Women We Admire

According to Women We Admire, "This year's awardees are celebrated for their contributions to their organizations and their personal accomplishments along the way. The city of San Diego, known as America's Finest City, has historically been home for remarkable women. Clara Shortridge Foltz, the first female attorney in California, and Dr. Charlotte Baker, the city's first female obstetrician and former president of San Diego's Equal Suffrage Association, are classic examples of San Diego women who broke barriers, making way for the leaders of today. This year's awardees have followed in their footsteps trailblazing within their industries to spark progress and change."
