Vorys attorneys Brent Craft, J.B. Lind, Jake Mahle and Eric Richardson will present at the Commonwealth of Kentucky's New Era of Cybersecurity event on December 7, 2018. Each day, the threats to your company's data and business increase. Cybersecurity threats are ever-changing, and in addition to constant tests of IT infrastructure, businesses are now under siege based on human factors—through such tactics as phishing, malware and internal actors. In the current environment, it is not a question of if a business will face a breach—it is a question of when it will happen, and how the business will react. The group's presentation will address the following topics:

- Emerging cybersecurity threats
- Preparations to reduce potential liability and costs associated with a breach
- New breach notification and remediation laws recent cases addressing liability for a breach
