Vorys, Sater, Seymour and Pease was mentioned in an American Banker story about Delaware County Bank's (DCB) completed capital raise. According to the story, the bank's parent, DCB Financial, completed a sale of common stock to existing shareholders and local investors that netted $13.2 million in funds. The new funds will allow DCB to meet its regulator's requirements and will provide capital to fuel future growth.

The story states:

“DCB Financial recorded net income of $306,000 in the third quarter, up 10.8% from the same period a year earlier. Sandler O'Neill, Broadridge Financial and the law firm of Vorys, Sater, Seymour and Pease advised the company in connection with the capital raise.”
