Nate Lampley, the managing partner of the Vorys Cincinnati office, authored an op-ed for Corporate Counsel titled “The Diversity Discussion: Big Law Partner Shares His Experiences to Help Change the Norm.” The article focused on Lampley’s experiences as a diverse attorney at an AMLaw 200 firm.

The article states:

“I do appreciate that a joint commitment between in-house counsel and law firm management to the principles of diversity can make a real difference. Together, we have the ability to change not only the trajectory of a single career, but also our entire profession.”
