

Construction Remedies: Replevin Actions vs. Liquidated Damages

Strafford Publications Webinar
Strafford Publications Webinar
2.9.22

Partner Craig O'Neill is a panelist in the session, "Construction Remedies: Replevin Actions vs. Liquidated Damages." This webinar will advise construction litigation counsel on the use of replevin action in construction disputes. The panel will address the process of filing replevin, determining jurisdiction and acquiring a writ of seizure as well as discuss how replevin actions may meet the issues created by the breakdown in the supply chain and when counsel should direct clients to seek monetary damages.

The panel will address these and other relevant topics:

- When should replevin be considered as a remedy in a construction default?
- When the location of the seized property is unknown, what is the proper jurisdiction for filing?
- What must the plaintiff provide to be awarded a writ of seizure?

More information can be found here.