

Learning From Experience - Attorney Perspectives on Effective and Ineffective Expert Support to Build Your Case

The Institute of Fire Science
March 16 - 17, 2022

As part of an event for the Institute of Fire Science, Partners Matt Ferrie and Gus Sara will present to insurance industry professionals regarding their perspectives on effective and ineffective expert support when handling subrogation matters. The course will highlight the critical elements of expert support throughout the entire subrogation investigation and litigation process. The presenters will provide examples from their own experiences in coordinating subrogation investigations and handling subrogation cases.
