White and Williams LLP is proud to celebrate 25,000 downloads of The Employment Law Counselor Podcast. To commemorate this milestone, we are looking back to our most listened to episodes in 2025, including:

AI Generates a New Workplace, What Employers Need to Know

In this episode of the Employment Law Counselor Podcast in collaboration with the Professional Liability Underwriting Society, hosts Victoria Fuller, Partner and Co-Chair of Labor and Employment Practice Group, and Laura Corvo, Counsel, are joined by their colleague Victoria Ranieri, Associate, to discuss the different types of artificial intelligence already in use in the workplace, and some of the potential legal risks that AI presents employers.

An Interactive Dialogue: The Intersection Between the ADA, FMLA, and PWFA

In this episode of The Employment Law Counselor, in collaboration with the Professional Liability Underwriting Society, Victoria Fuller, Partner and Co-Chair of Labor and Employment Practice Group, and Laura Corvo, Counsel, are joined by guest Chris Brooks, Executive Vice President, Berkley Select, for An Interactive Dialogue: The Intersection Between ADA, MFLA and PWFA. This episode focuses on the labyrinth of extremely complex laws, including the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the Pregnant Workers Fairness Act, and each of their state law counterparts, which employers must navigate. This podcast will shed light on the many requirements of those laws, explain how they intersect and the many risks that each law and its interaction with other laws present to employers.

Best Practices for Employers In An Unsettled DEI Climate

This episode of The Employment Law Counselor podcast, in collaboration with the Professional Liability Underwriting Society (PLUS), dives into recent executive orders which end Federal DEI programs and, among other things, encourage private sector employees to end "illegal DEI" programs. Victoria Fuller, Partner and Co-Chair of Labor and Employment Practice Group, and Laura Corvo, Counsel, are joined by Marlena Ellis, Associate, to discuss the implications of those executive orders on employers and offer some best practices employers should implement promptly to manage legal risks while still attracting and retaining high quality

About The Employment Law Counselor Podcast

The Employment Law Counselor Podcast is a global reaching podcast featuring practical discussions centered around the maze and minefield of labor and employment laws. The podcast launched in April of 2022, followed by ten episodes, titles including What To Do When Faced with an EEOC Charge, Misclassification of Employees, and Navigating the FMLA. In March of 2023, the podcast announced a partnership with the Professional Liability Underwriting Society, a collaboration the firm is proud to continue in 2024.

About Victoria Fuller

Victoria Fuller is a Partner and Co-Chair of the Labor and Employment Practice at White and Williams and works out of the Firm's Boston office. Victoria has almost two decades of experience as an employment lawyer. She regularly represents small to mid-size businesses, educational institutions, and non-profits in Massachusetts and New Hampshire state and Federal Courts, as well as in the EEOC and state agencies. In addition to defending employers, Victoria also counsels clients on all aspects of the employment relationship, such as hiring and termination, requests for accommodation, protected leave, and wage and hour issues. Victoria Fuller has been recognized as a Go-To Higher Education Lawyer by Massachusetts Lawyers Weekly.

About Laura Corvo

Laura Corvo, Counsel in the Firm's New Jersey and New York offices, regularly represents employers in employment litigation and advises clients on a variety of employment-related issues. She has extensive knowledge of federal, state and local employment laws and regularly counsels employers on a host of personnel and human resource issues including the management of AI in the workplace, employee hiring, discipline and termination matters, reductions in force, wage and hour compliance, family and medical leave compliance, and managing accommodations for disabled employees.
