Outside of the firm's Philadelphia headquarters, New York is the largest and fastest growing of the firm's offices. Since its opening in 2000, the office has expanded significantly both in the number of lawyers and the diversity of practice areas. Members of our New York team have diverse backgrounds and substantial experience in resolving difficult problems. We use an approach that balances advocacy with practicality in order to provide cost-effective and effective solutions.

We spend time understanding the business of our clients so that we are in the position to best address their needs and provide clear guidance.

The New York office is located on the Midtown West Side of Manhattan, close to many businesses, theatres and fine dining restaurants. The office is near Pennsylvania Station allowing ease of transportation via Amtrak, Long Island Railroad, New Jersey Transit, express and local bus service, and subway. The office is also close to LaGuardia and Newark Liberty International Airports as well as a variety of regional airports.
